UNDERSTANDING BIKE PARK SIGNAGE

At the core of the bike park's signage system are the symbols and colors used to depict trails. Each trail is color-coded and labeled to indicate the difficulty level and features it contains. Color-coded signage helps riders quickly identify the appropriate trails based on their skill level and riding style.

DIFFICULTY LEVELS

- Beginner trails are designed for riders who are just starting out. These trails feature gentle slopes and minimal obstacles.
- Intermediate trails offer more challenging rides with moderate terrain and obstacles.
- Advanced and Expert trails are for experienced riders seeking a more difficult and challenging experience.

FEATURES

- Technical features include jumps, drops, and technical sections.
- Freeride features are designed for riders who prefer a more natural and off-the-beaten-path experience.
- Wooden features are crafted from wood and offer a unique riding experience.

MAP READING TIPS

- Follow the arrows on the map to navigate the trails correctly.
- Look at the trail heads to locate where each trail begins.
- Use the trail markers to identify the trail names and difficulty levels.

It's important to familiarize yourself with the signage and trail features before heading out to ensure a safe and enjoyable ride.

NEW RIDERS

- Start with beginner trails and gradually move up to more advanced trails.
- Practice basic riding techniques and safety rules before venturing into more challenging areas.

EXPERIENCED RIDERS

- Remember to stay within your limits and adjust your ride based on your skill level.
- Use the main roads and paths to navigate the park efficiently.

ORIENTATION CENTRE
